Looked Up for Drunkenness.

One Oliver Blackburn, of Mt. Pleasant, O., was arrested yesterday afternoon for being drunk and noisy. He had in his pockets several letters from girls, photographs and visiting cards, and some of the most disgusting doggerel ever perpetrated. He will be up in the police court this morning.

Anniversary Celebration.

The American Literary Institute of Bethany college is going to celebrate its fiftieth anniversary Wednesday evening, April 20. Dr. John A. Brooks, of Kansas City, Mo., is to deliver an address on the occasion. Many of the old members are expected to be present and share in the rejoicing of the A. L. I.

Sent Home Insane.

Charles Walters who was sent to the Ohio penitentiary from the St. Clairsville court a little more than a year ago for breaking into and robbing the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad freight station at Bridgeport, was brought back to Bridgeport yesterday by the Belmont county sheriff, and was taken to his home at Allegheny by Marshal Ed. Keller. Young Walters has partially lost his mind, and will no doubt have to be sent to an insane asylum.

A "Dry" Town Indeed.

The Washington, Pa., Observer says: On Saturday last about eight hundred gallons of beer and forty gallons of whiskey were received at this place from Wheeling. This would indicate that many thirsty souls laid in a goodly supply of the "tanglefoot" article to run over Sunday. Now who has been granted license to bring all this liquor to this place, and if not granted, license who is so bold as to bid defiance to the interstate commerce law and send it here?

Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.
A new lodge of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen was organized at Bridgeport by George W. Newman, of Galesburg, Ill., third vice grand master of the national organization. The order numbers in America a membership of 37,000. The motto is "Benevolence, sobriety and industry." It is also beneficiary, costing each member $2.50 per month for an insurance of $1,000 against death or partial disability. The following are the names of the officers of the Bridgeport lodge: J. W. Freeman, master; J. W. Osborne, past master; D. L. Taff, vice past master; C. A. Wigner, financier; R. K. Hiner, recording secretary; James Miller, conductor; Charles Stettis, warden; W. A. Berry, outside guard; W. Harris, inside guard; H. Parks, journal agent.

To Protect the Girls.

One of the most remarkable bills of the present session of the Ohio Legislature was introduced on Monday by Col. D. D. Taylor, of Guernsey county. The intent of the bill is to make matters uncomfortable for gay married men who like to shine around young girls. The bill provides as follows: Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Ohio, that any person, being a married man in the state of Ohio, who shall fraudulently pretend to be a single man, and make proposals of marriage to any girl or unmarried woman, or repeatedly call on or keep company with such females, upon such false pretense that he is eligible to matrimony, shall be deemed guilty of a crime, and, upon conviction, be fined not less than $100 nor more than $500, and imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one year nor more than three years.

Thieves at Cameron.

The police here were notified yesterday that burglars had entered the store of Crawford Bros. & Co. the night before, at Cameron, and stolen a lot of ready made clothing. So far as known nothing else was missed. The thieves were thought to have come this way.

Addis Collins and George Chambers are charged with having put up the job. Collins went into the store and threw out seven suits of clothes, which Ross Stottsberry, Ed Miller and Charles Anderson picked up and made away with. Collins was arrested and lodged in jail at Moundsville. Stottsberry, Miller and Anderson got away, it was supposed, on a freight train coming in this direction, and the police of Wheeling were notified to be on the lookout for them. They were not found. Colonel George W. Robinson, who was passing through Cameron shortly after the robbery, got the names of the suspected parties and furnished them to the police here.

OVER SIXTY OF THEM.

The Grand Jury Finishes its Labors and Makes its Returns.

FOUR CASES FOR HANGING, MAYBE.

Renters of Houses to be Used as Immoral Resorts "Get it in the Neck." A long List with very Few of the Ordinary Misdemeanors that go to Make up the Average Grand Jury's Report.

The grand jury came in last evening about 5 o'clock and reported over sixty true bills, and only four and part of another as not true. The list is interesting and unusually long considering the towniness of the liquor selling cases and keepers of houses of ill fame, which ordinarily make up so great a part of long lists of indictments found. The only "not true bill" of special interest was that against Julius Jacobs, accused of trying to set fire to his store on Main street.

Wilhelm Maier, Mrs. Frank Leslie and Frank Church were indicted for murder, and Jack Probascio for the outrage upon the little Jackson girl, all four offenses for which the penalty may be death. The robberies and larcenies are unusually numerous, and there are several unusual offenses on the list.

The feature of the report especially notable, aside from the number of grave felonies, is the way the owners of houses who rent them to be used as houses of ill fame were caught. A number of these were indicted, one couple getting eleven true bills against them. It is commonly said that when landlords are fined for such renting, however, they manage to get the tenants to pay the fine, which, of course, defeats the entire purpose of the indictment. If a jail sentence could be imposed it might have a better effect.

Miss McGimpsey was not present for cutting Ada Foster, as Ada was too ill from the effects of her injuries to appear and testify. The man who cut Ed Kunkel's throat in a boat house on the South Side was not indicted, because he has never been found.

After the report had been received and the grand jury discharged, it was found that one of the indictments for renting a house was incorrectly endorsed, the evidence showing that Minnie Zulani was the person who rented a house to Jessie Morticello. The indictment was changed to read accordingly, but the endorsement on the back was overlooked. This will raise the question whether an erroneous endorsement, read to the jury without dissent, affects the validity of the indictment. The true bills returned were as follows:

FELONIES.
William Maier, murder.
Mary Leslie, murder.
Frank Church, murder.
Jack Probascio, alias Jack Clifford, rape.
George Alexander, stabbing Charles Cole.

Charles Discher and John Hillman, cutting Charles Weinmer with intent to kill.

Charles M. Eader, embezzling $900 from U. S. Express Company.

Frank Martin, robbing John Stephens of a watch.

Charles Williams and George Curtin, robbing Alex. Rodenbaugh of a watch etc.

Claude Devinney and Stony Duffy, stealing $300 worth of brass of the Belmont Nail Company.

John Wilson, stealing a watch from John Lee.

Patrick O'Neal, stealing $25 from Etta Ditty.

Robert Donaldson, stealing $35 of H. J. Mendel.

MISDEMEANORS
Samuel Porter, jr., attempting to procure an abortion.

James Nichols, adultery.

Dan Lawrence, unlawful gaming.

Charles Rice, disturbing a school.

Della Green, adultery.

J. H. Manley and H. B. Ridgway, destroying property.

NOT TRUE BILLS.
William Gould, assault and battery.

James Jones, adultery.

William and Elizabeth Emblen, illegal renting, one bill.

Henry Schenk, selling on Sunday.

Frank Walther, selling to a minor.

Julius Jacobs, attempt to burn a house.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.
Judge Paull ordered the release from jail of Stephen Roymer, who was sent to jail for sixty days on February 1, and fined $25. It was shown to the court that he could not pay the fine.

In the chancery cause of William A. Miller vs. Henry and Charles Miller, a decree was entered ordering the sale of the real estate at issue, being lot 4 in Joseph Caldwell's addition.

Both sides of the court adjourned till this forenoon.
